SAINT AUGUSTINE, Bishop of Hippo “Doctor of the Church” (continued from last week’s bulletin)

For example, she was moved after reading his famous book, the Confessions. It was a signal for her to change her own patterns, minor as they were. (Is anything minor or insignificant which prevents us from being united with God?) Teresa understood how God touched Augustine’s heart and soul with divine grace. This helped him grow from sinner to saint over the years. Teresa realized that no matter how good or holy we are, we are all sinners learning to become saints our entire life. We are never finished until God decides. We must start anew daily.

All the doctors and the greatest of the prophets, St. John the Baptist, insisted that we must decrease and Christ must increase. Grace, virtue and daily holiness must increase in us. All are directly linked to perseverance, changed of heart and sorrow for not doing enough for God as well as sorrow for past wrongs. Acknowledging our sinfulness, examining our consciences and confessing our failures are the sure paths that leads to new life, peace and joy. Augustine and all the doctors reiterate this theme and encourage us to take that course of action. It requires us to be continually humble, sincere and to pray daily to reach sainthood.

Augustine became a Christian at thirty-three, a priest at thirty-six and a bishop at forty-one. Oh! The power of praying, reading scripture, and listening to God’s words from inspiring preaching. All are vital for spiritual growth and development. These spiritual efforts and activities steadily transformed his body and soul.

Many will remember his famous line as he cried out: “Late have I love Thee, Oh Beauty, ever ancient and ever new.” We cannot forget the memorable words: “Our hearts are restless, Lord, until they rest in You.”

You are cordially invited to the following events in preparation for
