REV. JOSEPH AYALA FALLER

Fr. Joey Faller is a highly gifted and anointed instrument of God. Born in Lucban, Quezon in the Philippines, he was ordained priest at St. Ferdinand Cathedral in Lucena City on September 9, 1989. In 1998, he founded the "Kamay Ni Hesus" (The Hand of Jesus) Ministry Foundation, Inc., which has a Healing Center in Barangay Tinamnan in Lucban. Since 2001, he has been the Chairman of the National Service Committee of the Catholic Charismatic Renewal Movement in the Philippines.

After several assignments in the Diocese of Lucena, Fr. Joey decided to devote full-time in the Healing Ministry upon hearing from people stories and incidents of healing attributed to his ministering. At first, he refused to believe God's gift to him, asking God why a person like him would be chosen to be a healer. Fr. Joey later realized that he was truly blessed and he totally embraced God's gift of healing on April 8, 1994 when he had an accident that almost cost him his life. His right hand was injured and his small finger and index finger became permanently curled down and could not be straightened despite surgery. He realized that his right hand seemed to resemble that of the Infant Jesus, known as Sto. Nino and of the Risen Lord. For him, the accident confirmed God's call to become His instrument of healing. His right hand is a constant reminder that it is God's healing hands that work through him. Since then, he has carried the hands of the Lord to heal other people. There are numerous testimonies of those who experienced physical, spiritual and emotional healing as manifestations of God's healing power working through Fr. Joey.
